

The Harvard University Mathematics Department announces the:

Seminar on Education in the Mathematical Sciences Organizational Meeting

Place: Room 317, Science Center (in the Bok Center).
One Oxford Street, Cambridge.

Day: Tuesday, February 27.

Time: Lunch from 1:00pm to 1:30pm.
Seminar from 1:30pm to 2:30pm.

The objective of this seminar¹ and discussion series is to provide current and future mathematical scientists with an authentic but balanced view of current research, data and issues in mathematics education, especially as they relate to learning at the undergraduate level.

This meeting will provide an outline and overview of some of the topics to be considered and discussed this semester, including:

- Mathematics Education and Policy: Wilfried Schmid (Harvard)
- Mathematics Education and Philosophy: Daniel Goroff (Harvard)
- Mathematics Education and Beliefs: Judah Schwartz (MIT & Harvard)
- Mathematics Education and Psychology: Ricardo Nemirovsky (TERC)
- Mathematics Education and Pedagogy: Dale Winter (Harvard)

Pizza and light refreshments to be served.

For more details or to be added to the mailing list for this seminar, please send e-mail to: amanita@math.harvard.edu
